

ALIENS

David C F Wright PhD

Aliens are said to be extra terrestrial beings that are superior to humans and can travel through thousands of galaxies in such a short time since they travel faster than light. They are said to have seeded the human race and so evolution and Divine Creation did not happen.

Some assert that aliens introduced all religions to the Earth including Judaism and Christianity which does not make sense, since, for example, aliens deny Divine Creation contrary to Jewish and the Christian faith.

Alien beliefs are atheistic therefore, and most people who believe in aliens are atheistic or agnostic.

Some people say that it is unreasonable to believe that life only exists on Earth and there must be life elsewhere. There is no evidence that human life exists elsewhere.

It is also asserted that aliens abduct people presumably into their space craft or UFO and submit their captives to complex physical and psychological procedures. What is interesting is that those who are abducted are of a low mentality, as we do not read of intelligent people such as professors, statesmen, clergy, royalty and aristocrats being abducted. This is a relevant fact.

They are some abductees who have made money out of their stories and then later admitted it was all lies. In addition, the internet is full of proven hoaxes about aliens invading the Earth. On the other hand, many assert that they have seen aliens and UFOs but there seems to be few who saw such things as a group.

It is in the nature of men and women to lie and deceive and to further their interest and feel important. It happens in many walks of life.

Most scientists and mental health professionals dismiss all of this alien speculation as deception suggesting fantasy proneness, hypnotisability, false memory syndrome, personality defects, sleep paralysis and psychopathology. When such captives are later independently examined by human medical professionals they show signs of irrationality, confusion and have major contradictions in their account. Why should this be

There are people who are fascinated by science fiction and so much so that they are ready to believe in aliens and the like. This is a proven fact and cannot be gainsaid. In many other things of life, people wrongly believe that their opinions are fact. Science fiction is speculative fiction. Speculation is not fact.

The Sumerians lived about 5000 years BC in the Fertile Crescent. It is known that they were polytheistic believing in many gods and were a very suspicious people. They were advanced in the technology of the day, apparently invented the plough and always at war with each other. They were very unstable people. The notion of aliens seems to have started with them.

Many other facts emerge. In all the pictures of aliens they have no genitals so how do they reproduce ? They do not appear to wear clothes. On one site, someone says that aliens eat and expel their waste but no one knows how.

One lady says her best friend is an alien and has a green body and once when they were together in a supermarket a bit of his green body covering was left on her clothes.

No one else saw her friend.

The first recorded cases of alien abduction date from the late 1950s and the Hill family case of 1961. Why not before ? It is interesting to note that these cases correspond to the growing fascination of science fiction.

In one recent documentary, some bodies of alleged aliens were subject to autopsies and were found to be frauds made of chicken lungs, animal livers and other known human items.

It is sad to say that a lot of these beliefs, which cannot be independently shown to be true, are problems in the mind of so called believers. Things in and of the mind are mental matters and problems.

I have a friend who believes in spiritualism and communication with the dead and has been to four separate meetings with different mediums. He has always asked about his late father. In each of the four meetings, he has been told by the mediums four completely different things about his father which are all untrue. If those mediums believe in what they have revealed then are they not frauds and tricksters and have problems with their minds ? They have certainly deceived my friend. Frauds abound!

A couple of my secular friends said, "People will believe in almost anything rather than the Bible and its good morality as well as other proved ideologies which have stood the tests of thousands of years".

The majority of intelligent people say that if there is concrete proof of aliens they will believe it, but there is no such proof. Some assert that some aliens live in caves in Derbyshire.

It is also asserted that aliens are here to help mankind ! How?

There are others who believe that the giants of Genesis 6 were the Sumerians, also referred to by some as the Nephilim, who interred married and created evil resulting in the Flood. The Sumerians recorded the Noah's Flood as the Epic of Gilgamesh.

In simple logic, how can people believe in such things without reliable and independent proof? And they will not believe things that can be proved to be true ! For example, much of Jewish history and the Bible can be proved by secular means but is dismissed and ridiculed by atheists and others.
