

GEORGE MICHAEL

David C F Wright PhD

George Michael was born on 23 June 1963 in East Finchley, London and started his career with the group WHAM before going solo. He became a songwriter, record producer and sold more than 100 million records worldwide, one of the best selling British artists of all time, He was acclaimed as a pop superstar but this was, perhaps, due to his popularity rather than anything else. One of his songs I Want Your Sex was banned in many countries.

He was arrested on 7 April 1998 for a lewd act in a public toilet in Beverley Hills, California which resulted in his admission that he was homosexual.. On 23 July 2006,he was accused of engaging in anonymous public sex on Hampstead Heath. He admitted that he cruised for anonymous sex even though he usually had a boyfriend at the time and, in addition, drugs were a major problem for him. Earlier, he had relationships with girls which seriously questions the idea that people are born gay and cannot help it. There are over 33 million people who have died from HIV/AIDS, 86 % of them is because of homosexuality and there are about 4 million children who have so suffered. This disease is, or was, of epidemic proportions and if people did not practise homosexuality, the majority of these deaths would not have happened. With the deaths of these innocent children does this in any way say that homosexuality is immoral?

In February 2006, he was arrested for possession of Class C drugs. In 2007, he pleaded guilty to drug offences while driving and was banned for two years. There were other drug offences.

Politically, he was a left winger and received praise from the Lesbian and Gay Rights Movement and Jeremy Corbyn hailed him as an activist and supporter of workers rights.

George Michael was addicted to heroin which is also very dangerous. It causes depression, severe brain damage and other major health problems,It also causes wild and irrational behaviour even madness. It can also cause death. All addicts live for is heroin and this is admitted by many and by medical web sites.

It has been said that the pop industry might largely depend on the support of drugs to 'keep the artists and groups going.'

George Michael made a lot of money. In one two year period, he amassed £48.5 million. It is believed that he gave away over £2 million to charities and other good causes and was deservedly known as a very kind and generous man. It is also said that these gifts were anonymously given which deserves even more approbation

He helped many but his own life was very distressing and tragic and much of his pain could have been prevented. His benevolence and kindness must not be overlooked. It is worthy of our admiration.

He was found dead in bed in the early hours of Christmas Day 2016 by his boyfriend, Fadi Fawaz. But the singers problems were self-inflicted and could all of been avoided which makes his passing all the more tragic.
